Will Launch Drive For New Legislation For the Working Men

Unemployment Insurance Means Major Legislative Program—Labor Will Also Fight for Men on All Seven-Day Work Weeks.

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 2 (AP).—A drive for new legislation for the working man will be launched next week by the State Federation of Labor.

Unemployment insurance heads the major legislative program which will occupy the attention of the executive committee when it meets in the shadow of the state capitol Tuesday. The Federation seeks to assess the cost of insurance against industry, and to have the fund managed by the state. The proposal is based in principles adopted by the American Federation of Labor at its Cincinnati convention in 1932.

The Federation also will fight in the legislature this winter for a ban on all seven-day work weeks, and for a permanent law limiting the length of the work week on state, city, town and county public works.

A temporary law limits this week to 40 hours and five days. John M. O'Hanlon, secretary of the Federation, said attempt may even be made to have this further reduced to 30 hours.

"This, of course, would cause a 25 per cent increase in the number of men required to accomplish the same amount of public work," he said.

He estimated that 500,000 persons are employed in public works in the state each year.

The present temporary law was sponsored by Senator William T. Byrne of Albany and Assemblyman Irwin Steingut, both Democrats.

They may also work for the permanent law, Federation officials said.

"We will also ask the legislature to cut out exemptions from the 'weekly day of rest' law," O'Hanlon said.

The labor secretary said employees of railroads, hotels, restaurants, bakeries, apartment houses, dairies and public employees generally do not have the benefit of the law which limits work in other labor groups to six days a week.

Other points suggested for legislation were:

1. Ratification of the Federal Child Labor Amendment.

2. Outlaw of the so-called "yellow dog" contract, whereby employees keep their workers from joining unions.

3. Granting right of jury trial to workmen accused of violating injunctions in industrial disputes.

4. State control of employment agencies "to end extortion and other abuses."

Edgar Peterson Is Jailed for 30 Days

Pleading Guilty to Forging Name of George W. Moore to a Check—Two More Join Stop Sign Passers' Association—Speeder Fined $15.

Edgar Peterson, 26, of North street, at Steep Rocks, arrested for forgery, was allowed to plead guilty to petit larceny in police court on Friday and was sentenced to 30 days in jail by Judge Culliton. The young man pleaded guilty to forging the name of George W. Moore to a check for $10 which was later cashed by Harry Keiser, Peterson, according to the police, said he used the money to make various purchases for Thanksgiving Day.

Irving Taub of Poughkeepsie, arrested for speeding 50 miles an hour on Albany avenue, was fined $15.

Jane Wilson, a negroess of 23 Syracuse street, was sentenced to five days in jail. She was arrested for public intoxication.

Joseph Genter of Linderman avenue became a member of the Stop Sign Passers' Association when he pleaded guilty to passing a stop sign and was fined $5.

George J. Fisher of Lounsbury Place, arrested on a charge of passing a stop sign, pleaded not guilty and his hearing was set down for next Tuesday.

Shank Given Death For Poison Murders

Benton, Ark., Dec. 2 (AP).—A jury unconvinced by his plea of insanity, has ordered the death penalty for Mark H. Shank, Akron, O., attorney, convicted of the poison murder of Alvin Coolidge. Shank is also under indictment for the murder of Coolidge's wife and two of their children.

All died from poison placed in grape juice at a picnic last August 15.

The verdict was returned late last night by the jury after deliberating nine hours. The defendant showed no emotion but his wife, given credit for much of the work of planning his defense, collapsed and was carried from the courtroom to her hotel on a stretcher.

Defense attorneys announced they would renew the fight to free Shank. He has until next Thursday to file a motion for a new trial, notice of which was given after the verdict was reported. If the motion is overruled, the attorney will be sentenced to death immediately. He will have 60 days in which to file an appeal.

Heywood Patterson Is Convicted Third Time, Given Death Penalty

Decatur, Ala., Dec. 2 (AP).—Convicted a third time in less than three years on a charge of attacking a white woman, Heywood Patterson, one of seven negro defendants in the "Scottsboro case," again was under sentence of death today.

Unmolested, the 21 year old Chattanooga, Tenn., negro last night heard a Morgan county jury return the verdict he had heard on two previous occasions. "We, the jury, find the defendant guilty as charged, and fix his punishment at death."

Patterson was convicted on a charge of attacking Mrs. Victoria Price who, with Ruby Bates was alleged to have been assaulted by the negroes aboard a freight train in Jackson County, Alabama, on March 25, 1931.

Seated beside Patterson as the verdict was read was Clarence Norris, second of the defendants to be tried at this term of court. Judge W. W. Callahan was preparing to swear in a jury for the trial of Norris, starting today, at the time the Patterson jury reported its decision after 25 hours' deliberation.

The negroes were first convicted and sentenced to death at Scottsboro, Ala., in 1931. They won an appeal to the United States supreme court and the trials were transferred here under a change of venue. At his second trial Patterson was given the death penalty but the trial judge set aside the verdict.

Judge Callahan probably will wait until completion of the trial of Norris and the five other defendants, all scheduled to be tried at this term of court, before formally sentencing Patterson.

Samuel S. Leibowitz, New York attorney retained by the International Labor Defense as chief counsel for the negroes, indicated another appeal would be carried to the United States supreme court.

Attacks N. Y. Milk Price Fixing Law

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 2 (AP).—In attacking New York's milk price fixing law, under fire in the Supreme Court of the United States on December 4, Chief Judge Cuthbert W. Pound declared "constitutional law is a progressive science."

It is on constitutional grounds that Arthur E. Sutherland, Jr., attorney for Leo Nebbia, Rochester grocer, is attacking the law. Sutherland, once a law clerk for Oliver Wendell Holmes, former justice of the United States supreme court, holds that at the milk law, which says how much the distributor shall pay the farmer and how much the retailer shall charge the public, abridges the Fourteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution.

The section of the amendment, which it is contended, is violated reads:

"Nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty or property without due process of law."

Nebbia gave away a five-cent loaf of bread with two bottles of milk selling for 18 cents. He was fined $5. He was "deprived of property without due process of law," his lawyer argued through the Rochester city court, Monroe county court and the Court of Appeals, the state's highest court.

New York was the first to help dairymen by fixing prices. Trivial in its origin, the action on the Nebbia case may determine federal action and the procedure of several states as to dairy legislation. Ohio joined with New York in the Nebbia case.

Roosevelt Prepares Washington Return

Warm Springs, Ga., Dec. 2 (AP).—President Roosevelt prepared today for a departure from his "other home" here for Washington, silent and apparently satisfied with the trend of his disputed monetary program.

A revival of reports from abroad about understandings between the United States and Great Britain on money and new proposals for stabilization of the currency in the international exchanges brought only smiles and silence here—and no interpretations.

Today was packing up day at the Little White House. Tomorrow the President starts for Washington, arriving there late Monday morning.

In his two weeks here he has enjoyed perfect weather—warm and a bright sun almost every day. He also has enjoyed about as much freedom and relaxation as a President is ever able to get.

It was a sun-tanned, rested President who prepared to turn toward Washington today.

Gold in Main Street.

East Aurora, N. Y., Dec. 2 (AP).—There's gold in East Aurora's Main street and Fred A. Darrin is panning for it. He's finding it too. Last winter five destroyed Darrin's home and along with it a chest containing 49 pounds of rich gold quartz mined in the Black Hills in the 50's.

Darrin discovered gold glistening in the ruins after the debris was moved. Using a sieve and a pan, he has since recovered about 25 pounds of the quartz.

Liquor Machinery Ready for Business

New York State Complete Settling Up of Vint Machinery to Tap Its Liquor and Wine Business.

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 2 (AP).—New York state today had completed the setting up of the vast machinery to tap its liquor and wine business of four million dollars between repeal next Tuesday and April 1, when the amendment to the present tax status expires.

After that, if the legislature maintains the present rate of taxation, an estimated $12,000,000 will flow into the state coffers annually from those who distribute the liquor and wine which become legal four days hence. The state will return one-half of the total amount to cities, villages and towns.

The intake before prohibition ranged from a low in 1915 of $17,766,553 to a high of $22,616,442 in 1918.

Distributors of beer since the 3.2 beverage became effective had paid a tax of $3,750,000 up to November 15 through the same statute under which the liquor and wine tax law was enacted last August. The tax rate on beer is 3 1/3 cents a gallon.

Collection of the tax rests with the state tax commission, of which the pleasant, soft spoken Mark Graves is president.

Distributors of liquor will be required to pay a tax of one dollar a gallon, distributors of "sparkling" wine 40 cents a gallon and of "still" wine 10 cents a gallon.

"The term 'distributor' is often misunderstood," says President Graves. "A distributor is any person, firm or corporation who or which imports or causes to be imported into the state, for distribution or sale, any beer, liquor or wine or who produces or manufactures any within the state."

It should be kept in mind, he declared, that a club, restaurant or hotel proprietor, for instance, is a distributor, liable for payment of the tax if he imports alcoholic beverages into the state from another state or country.

The tax is payable every month when each distributor must file with the Department of Taxation and Finance a report of the number of gallons on hand at the beginning of the month and at the end, the number of gallons manufactured, produced, imported or received and the number of gallons sold.

President Graves made it clear that the tax will apply to liquor and wine delivered within the state on or after repeal, even though a contract for the beverage was made before December 5.

The only liquor and wine not taxable is that sold on prescription by a drug store, sold or used for manufacturing and industrial uses and for sacramental purposes.

Distributors who fail to file a return or pay the amount of the tax are subject to a penalty of five per cent, plus one per cent of the amount for each month he is in default after the first month. Failure to pay the tax or any penalty will result in revocation of the license by order of the State Alcoholic Beverage Control Board.

ONE BIG DISTILLERY TO PAY $50,000,000 YEARLY TAX

Peoria, Ill., Dec. 2.—Eight hundred workmen are rushing to completion here the buildings for a new company which, when its products reach capacity production, will yield the United States government $30,000,000 a year in revenue. Within a month 1,200 will be working on these buildings and within three months these buildings will have been completed and occupy a space of 20 acres.

The buildings are for Hiram Walker & Sons, Inc., which will give steady employment to 1,000 men at the plants and branches throughout the country. It is said that it will be the largest distillery in the country and will involve a $4,000,000 investment.

Farmers in the mid-west will profit to the extent of selling 20,000 bushels of grain a day to this distillery or 6,000,000 bushels a year; coal mines will ship in 350 tons of coal daily, while bottles, barrels, boxes and labels to the extent of hundreds of thousands will be purchased.

Treasury Receipts.

Washington, Dec. 2 (AP).—The position of the treasury November 29 was: Receipts, $107,887,333.76; expenditures, $107,400,492.84; balance, $1,107,225,802.46. Customs receipts for the month, $25,558,039.55. Receipts for the fiscal year to date (since July 1), $1,135,504,402.34; expenditures, $1,508,363,977.09 (including $692,526,803.55 for emergency relief); excess of expenditures, $772,465,574.75.

Assemblyman to Get Half.

Hornell, N. Y., Dec. 2 (AP).—One half of the $125,000 estate of his wife, the late Harriett Shattuck Jacobs Coughlin of this city, will go to Assemblyman Edward J. Coughlin of Kings county. Surrogate Judge John C. Wheeler ruled yesterday. The remainder will be held in trust for 20 years for foreign missionary societies to be designated later by the court.

Our Growing Population.

The following births have been reported to the board of health: Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Reeder of R. F. D. Hurley, a daughter, Evelyn Lois, at Benedictine Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Young of 52 Staples street, a son, Richard John, at Benedictine Hospital.

Waxy Gordon Gets 10 Years, $80,000 Fine for Income Tax Evasion

New York, Dec. 2 (AP).—Waxy Gordon, beer baron and New York's Public Enemy No. 1, is in the federal house of detention today, facing a ten-year prison sentence and a fine of $80,000 for evasion of income taxes.

He was convicted yesterday of evading and conspiring to evade income taxes in 1930 and 1931 during which years, the government contended, he made $2,365,403 but paid only $2,615.76.

Sentence was passed by Federal Judge Frank J. Coleman who called Gordon, also known as Irving Wexler, "a gang leader of the worst type," who has had "such success in crime that nothing will ever wear him down from such a course save actual imprisonment."

The sentence, only four years less than the maximum possible, puts Gordon in a class with Al Capone who was sentenced to 11 years in prison and fined $50,000 in a similar case in Chicago.

Gordon was convicted on four counts. He was fined $10,000 each on the second and fourth counts, and a similar sum on the first and third counts, but the latter fines were ordered suspended if the first two were paid.

In addition, Judge Coleman fined him $60,000 to cover the costs of prosecution. When United States Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, 31-year-old prosecutor, informed him the costs may be more than that amount, the judge announced that the $60,000 fine will be modified in accordance with that accounting.

The big beer man received the stiffest jolt of his career with little show of emotion, but his wife sat behind him sobbing.

Charles G. F. Wahle of defense counsel, said:

"Gordon is no fool. He is very much of a philosopher at this time. He knows he has had a fair trial and he accepts his fate."

Nevertheless, Wahle said an appeal will be taken to the United States Court of Appeal and that bail will be sought on Monday.

9 Months Silence Broken By Hoover

Washington, Dec. 2 (AP).—A prediction by Herbert Hoover that he would remain publicly silent nine months after leaving the White House was recalled today by close friends as an aftermath of his clash with Governor Rolph of California.

The ex-president missed his forecast by four days. His period of public silence lasted eight months and 26 days.

Newspapermen who learned of Mr. Hoover's prediction before he left the executive mansion sought out something of the ex-president's plans and intentions. Almost unanimously they expressed in private, of course, their belief that his clash with Rolph was only a temporary break in his rule of "no public statements."

One asserted that from recent contacts with Mr. Hoover he was sure the latter had no intention of an early step back into the national arena.

Another close personal and political ally said Mr. Hoover regarded his criticism of Rolph's applause of the San Jose lynching as a statement rather than as a national utterance.

Still another opinion was that Mr. Hoover does not consider the present an opportune time for any open political activity and that he will continue to be a quiet resident of Palo Alto, California.

Terrific Storm Kills 30 as Black Sea Rages

Istanbul, Turkey, Dec. 2 (AP).—The Soviet oil tanker, Gellinik, was wrecked today and 13 members of its crew were drowned in the terrific waves of the storm-lashed Black Sea near the Turkish town of Ordu.

Seven of the sailors were rescued in the fierce blizzard which still was raging after having wrought havoc all along the coast for more than 24 hours.

Relief agencies continued their efforts today to care for the hundreds of injured and the many driven from their homes by rising waters in Sam-sun.

At least 17 persons were known to have lost their lives in and near Sam-sun yesterday as an estimated damage of $225,000 was done by the storm.

Ruby Supper and Dance

A free spaghetti supper and dance will be held at the Ruby Hotel tonight and Sunday night. Music will be furnished by the Melody Cruisers for the event which is expected to be attended by a crowd surpassing that which enjoyed last week-end's program.

Appointed to Board.

Washington, Dec. 2 (AP).—The appointment of Delos M. Cosgrove of Watertown, N. Y., as a member of the New York State Advisory Committee of the Federal Public Works Administration was announced today at the administration offices.

Charge Local Union Is Not Living up To Intent of Court Order

In Giving Work in Local Theaters to T. J. Little, Who Was Re-instated in Union—Judge Loughran Reserves Decision in Matter.

A motion to punish for contempt was argued Friday at special term of supreme court before Judge John T. Loughran in the Thomas J. Little reinstatement case which has been before the courts for some time and which was recently determined by the appellate division when that court sustained the judgment of Judge Loughran directing that Little, a local motion picture projectionist, be re-instated in the union.

The action was originally brought against the local union from which Mr. Little had been expelled. The order of the court was that he should be re-instated and receive back his membership card.

Arthur B. Ewig appeared for Mr. Little. In special term Friday Mr. Ewig stated to the court that the membership card had been restored but that in his opinion the union was not living up to the intent of the court order in that Mr. Little was not receiving work. He stated that there had been extra work in local theaters but Mr. Little was never called to take those jobs. He further stated that he had learned that officials of the union have made the remark that Little had made trouble enough and that requests for his reinstatement had been refused.

Death was due to heart trouble, Mrs. Burland and her husband across this morning at their usual time and she appeared to be in her usual condition of health. For a time she had been attended by Dr. Holcomb of this city. Mr. Burland departed for his work and Mrs. Burland apparently dressed for a trip to Kingston and was on her way to take the bus when she apparently dropped dead. When found she had her suitcase in one hand and her pocket book in the other. The body was found on the west side of the road a half mile from the home and some 600 or 800 feet from the Glenford church where she was to take the bus to Kingston.

An examination disclosed no marks on the body and death was apparently due to heart trouble. She may have been late and in hastening for the bus overtaxed her heart. The body was turned over to Undertaker V. N. Lasher of Woodstock.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Burland is survived by one son, Milton, of Margaretville. Funeral services from the Glenford M. E. Church on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment in Woodstock.

Continues Probe Into Mysterious Slaying

Buffalo, N. Y., Dec. 2 (AP).—Denying any knowledge of the mysterious slaying of his attractive young wife, Pasquale Costanzo was held today by Buffalo police for further questioning.

Accompanied by his attorney, he walked into the sheriff's office about dark last night and surrendered.

Formerly a restaurant owner in Olean and better known as Patsy Rine, Costanzo declared himself as mystified as anybody else as to the murder of the 26-year-old beauty shop operator, Marian Costanzo, whose body was found at the bottom of a 150-foot gully in the Boston hills Thursday. She had been strangled with a piece of sash cord and tossed down the embankment.

Asked why his wife was never reported missing, Costanzo said he had told his attorney, Samuel Fleischman, that she had left him. The couple came from Olean about nine months ago. About two years ago Costanzo's home in Olean was blown up. It was reported that a gas explosion was responsible, but police investigated a rumor that it was in reprisal for acts which offended Olean-Bradford alcohol racketeers.

Costanzo is 52 years old. Authorities quoted relatives as saying that he had been jealous and that he and his wife "could not get along," chiefly because of the difference in age. They had been separated several times.

Death Blamed on Piece of Wood.

Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 2 (AP).—The death of Mrs. Marjorie King Road, wife of H. T. King, chairman of the Orleans county Republican committee, is blamed on a piece of wood which lodged in her throat while she was dining in a Rochester restaurant. Ill for four weeks, she died in a hospital here yesterday.

Local CWA Sends Secretary To New York With Projects

Harford Shultis, Secretary of Local CWA, Left Early Today For New York—Among Projects are Remodeling of Old Armory, Widening of Foxhall Avenue, and Repairs to Schools and Fire Stations.

Field Representative Clark of the State Civil Works Administration did not come to Kingston on Friday as planned and Chairman Henry Forst of the local CWA got in touch with him on the telephone that afternoon and was informed that he would be in Kingston Sunday. In order to avoid delay, however, the local CWA this morning sent its secretary, Harford Shultis, to New York city with a list of proposed projects to see if they could not be approved today so that there would be no further delay in placing men at work in Kingston.

Among the proposed projects to be submitted is the remodeling of the old armory, which will be turned into a large stage with dressing rooms on both sides of the stage. New floors will also be laid in the armory and a number of interior alterations made. If this project is approved it will mean the employment of a large number of skilled mechanics, who are out of work at the present time.

Another proposed project is the widening of Foxhall avenue, from the railroad crossing to Flatbush avenue.

Several sewer projects will also be submitted, as well as repair work to the city schools and fire stations.

Chairman Forst said this morning that Field Representative Clark informed him over the telephone that it would take from three to four days to go over proposed projects and either approve or reject them.

The local administration is very anxious to have all red tape ironed out and start men at work as quickly as possible.

Denver Pharmacist Thought a 'Bluebeard'

Held by Authorities and Under Questioning in Death of Three Former Wives—Confesses Killing Fourth Wife.

Albuquerque, N. M., Dec. 2 (AP).—Carl W. Wickman, Denver pharmacist under questioning by authorities concerning the deaths of three former wives, remained in custody today without charge as the investigation extended to Massachusetts.

An investigation was begun after the fourth wife, Mrs. Donalds Chicoine Wickman, died last Saturday night. Ray Humphreys, chief investigator for the Denver district attorney, has asked Boston officials to check on Wickman's eastern activities.

Humphreys, assailing T. J. Marby, district attorney here, said he had found in Wickman's trunk two recommendations as to his professional ability from Massachusetts men which indicated also that Wickman at one time was employed by McLean Hospital, Waverly, Mass.

Wickman told officers his fourth wife was killed by a hit and run motorist. Marby said an autopsy may not be completed for a week.

Marby said Wickman made several "important statements" during a lengthy interview yesterday but the district attorney declined to reveal their nature.

Concerning the deaths of Wickman's second and third wives, Marby said:

"Wickman has admitted that both of these women died suddenly and that neither had medical attention until the last hours of their lives, but he has maintained himself innocent of any wrongdoing and only said: 'I admit it looks bad for me.'"

Makes Confession.

Albuquerque, N. M., Dec. 2 (AP).—T. J. Marby, district attorney, said this morning that Carl Wickman, druggist, had confessed slaying his fourth wife, Mrs. Donalds Chicoine Wickman, of Denver, last Saturday night.

Resume Inquiry Into Bus Fatality

Middletown, N. Y., Dec. 2 (AP).—The inquiry of Sullivan county officials into the head-on collision of a motor bus and sedan which caused the death of six occupants of the latter a week ago last night near Chester will be resumed here today. Eight of the 22 passengers in the bus were hurt.

The driver of the bus, Peter Nelson of Monticello, and a farmer, Konstanty Sonnoitsky, are under arrest, the former charged with manslaughter and Sonnoitsky with driving a car without a tail light.

The bus was passing Sonnoitsky's truck when a passenger car, owned by Jacob Kaiser, sped over the hood of a hill and crashed into it. Robert T. J. Marby, district attorney, said the inquiry began immediately after the accident but was postponed until today because of the arrest of several injured persons to appear.

Two Cases Ready For Trial Monday

But two cases were found ready for trial when December term of Supreme Court opens at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. Justice John T. Loughran presiding. The two cases reported ready when County Clerk Simpson called the calendar Friday afternoon were Nos. 549 and 550. They are Grace Schantz against Rose Jutkowitz and another, and Philip Schantz against the same defendants.

Philip A. Mylod is attorney for the plaintiffs and Ireland and Hendrickson are attorneys of record for the defendants.

Another Football Fatality.

Syracuse, N. Y., Dec. 2 (AP).—A fractured skull received in a boys' football game Thanksgiving Day caused the death of 15 year old Francis Lisowski last night. The boy was taken home after being hurt, but his parents did not become alarmed at his condition until yesterday afternoon. An examination at a hospital disclosed the skull fracture.

WHAT IS LAW?

Perhaps the events of the last few days were needed to shock the American people as a whole into a realization of the state into which the administration of law has fallen among them. Without such a consideration, the disgrace would be well-nigh intolerable. Repeal has come about because thoughtful and temperate citizens realized that prohibition was contributing to a general feeling of lawlessness. The breakdown of justice in courts has contributed to the feeling of citizens that they cannot trust the law. The revelations about banks, bankers and moneyed persons generally in their ability to escape just judgments by reliance on legal technicalities have added to the growing distrust. Revelations about gangsters, racketeers and kidnapers have thrown in their quota for the further undermining of confidence.

What is law? Theoretically, at least, it is, in a republic, the reasoned decision of the representatives of the people as to methods for the protection of the persons and equities of the people. Laws are rules made by the people for the furtherance of their own good, for the preservation and establishment of justice. Too many people have for too long looked upon the practice of law as a game in which sharpness and shrewdness may outwit the other fellow and money be made by corrupting judges and juries. It is time that the practice of law be recognized as the administration of justice between man and man—a calling rather than which even medicine or the ministry is higher in spiritual values and the service of mankind. A new generation of lawyers is needed—men imbued with that spirit. Courts may then be trusted. Mobs and anarchy are the children of depraved courts.

"DE LAWD" IN DIXIE

It was with much doubtfulness that the managers of "Green Pastures" took their quaint negro play southward after years of triumph in the North. They were afraid that the South, with its rather old-fashioned regard for religion, and its supposedly hostile attitude toward negroes, would not tolerate a play which portrayed God in the likeness of a black man in frock coat smoking an cigar.

An experimental tour of Virginia, the Carolinas and Georgia has been a revelation to the theatrical men. The play has not only "gone over big," but the southern whites seem to appreciate it more than the northern whites. It draws a whole page of approving comment from the Atlanta Constitution. The governor of North Carolina is quoted as saying it is the finest stage show he has ever seen.

There is a real difference between the northern and southern audiences. The former have usually been inclined to regard the play as a quaint comedy. Many were stirred by it to reverence, but others laughed. In the South the audiences do not laugh. They feel as if they were in church. They recognize the spirit of the play, and its incidents and characterizations, as representing the simple faith of a primitive and poetic race. Therein showing that the South really understands the negro better than the North.

CHRISTMAS MILLIONS

Very soon now banks and other organizations sponsoring Christmas Savings Clubs will be mailing out the annual checks. The total this year is 20 per cent less than last year, but impressive, all things considered. It is $350,000,000 and will be distributed to 8,000,000 persons.

This ought to help Christmas shopping in many centers. It is estimated that 42 per cent of the money will be spent directly for Christmas purchases; 12 per cent will go for taxes; 3 per cent for general year-end commodations; 5 per cent for mortgage amortizations and interest; 5 per cent for insurance premiums; 2 per cent for travel, education and charity; and 25 per cent for permanent saving and investment. In other words, about $229,000,000 of that money will get to work at once, stimulating trade, paying bills and being generally useful.

There are fewer Christmas Club members this year, but the average amount they will receive is a little more than last year. May they have great fun spending those millions! And also, may they reserve at least a small part of them for a nest egg left in the banks.

When it comes to selling most commodities, woman is the deciding factor. She manages the best of all markets, the American home. The Administration, in its drive for higher prices, is faced with definite household protest against advancing costs. The housewife speaks through the figures. Department store sales, based on dollar value and not volume, have fallen steadily. Mrs. American has become accustomed to bargains; when they disappeared she stopped buying. To offset this, the government is intensifying its campaign to get more money into the hands of the public. As for business in general, the picture is so mixed as to be impossible to depict accurately. Some businesses are up, some are down, and some are pursuing a sedate middle course. On the whole, industry is substantially better off than it was when the year opened, and heartening gains have been made in employment, wages, working hours, and in profits of many large corporations.

THE WHY OF APPENDICITIS

When we think of that small organ, the appendix, and realize that it is only two inches long, and a quarter of an inch wide, it is hard to understand why it can become so dangerous.

After all, the appendix is only a little sack, which is a part of and opens into, the large intestine, a few inches past the point where the small intestine empties into the large intestine.

It has the same lining surface as the large intestine; in fact is just a sort of small pocket in the large intestine.

What then makes this little worm-like sack such a dangerous organ when it becomes inflamed?

Dr. Hugh Robertson, St. Davids, Pa., reminds us that the coat of the appendix is shiny and pink in appearance, but is as tough and free from stretching as airplane cloth.

The appendix, like all other organs with mucous linings, manufactures a juice which is poured out on the wastes of the food in the large intestine. As long as this juice can flow freely out of the appendix into the intestine there can be no trouble.

But what if the appendix becomes "kinked" or obstructed by something inside it?

The mucous is dammed back, but continues to be manufactured so that there is really no room for this increased amount.

If it becomes overcrowded with this mucous, and its coat will not stretch to give this mucous room, then naturally there is bound to be pain from pressure. The mucous then turns to pus with its great number of organisms, and the pressure on the coat of the appendix becomes greater and greater and finally, if not removed, it bursts through the coat and the pus gets into the abdomen.

When this occurs it is called peritonitis, a most dangerous condition. It is then, this tough coat of the appendix that actually chokes or strangles the appendix causing a blockage or kink, that makes appendicitis so dangerous.

It is for this reason that physicians and surgeons are anxious to have the appendix removed before it turns black from strangulation from its outer coat, with likelihood of it bursting and causing peritonitis.

Thus if operation is performed the first 12 hours after the pain occurs there are usually no deaths; after 24 hours to 36 hours the death rate may be as high as 5 per cent, and after 48 hours the death rate is much higher.

FORBIDDEN VALLEY

by William Byron Howells

"They might be on the party of trippers making a little jaunt into the mountains."
"No, no! They take on the much grub dore at Russian Lake. I talk to some guides an' see 'em. They bring grub for mebbe two moor' tramp."

"You say that this Ralston a fellow in some prospecting leaping the bush?"

"Dat's wat he say he is; but me, I don't believe him. He got so callous on bees man's lak prospecting got. He do things lak cooly man—say 'Thank you, keep above, and talk lak book-learn teller.'"

Something queer about this Ralston, Karakhan sensed intuitively. A trained geologist would know that the formations of the Lillians were not gold-bearing. Anybody who ventured into Klosohe territory after all the warnings at Russian Lake, must have important business in there. Ralston might be a Mounted detective.

Whoever Ralston was he had to be stopped. If an enemy, the sooner the better. If only a prospector—well, the country had plenty of such bush-toppers, and one would not be missed.

"Where's the southern band of Klosohees, LeNoir?"
"At de Lillian forks. Day open summer dere, camp at 'sh' weirs."

"Do they know about this party coming up river?"

LeNoir shook his head.
Karakhan slipped his cigarette through the window, a decisive gesture. "Well, see to it that they find out! Tell 'em that this Falston is a land scout for the white men, coming in here to look things over. Tell 'em that other white men will follow after him and shoot the Klosohees down and take away these mountains. Understand?"

LeNoir grinned. He could imagine how the Klosohees would react to that!

"You get back down the Lillian," Karakhan added, "and keep tab on that man yourself. Give him a warning at the pass. If he turns back, let him alone; we don't want to stir up trouble if it isn't necessary. But if he disregards the warning and comes on, simply kill him, and make the job look like a rapid accident." LeNoir nodded, his black eyes glittering in the candlelight.

FIFTEEN miles below the pass, Curt's party went ashore on a headland one noon for the midday rest. Casually walking away from the others, Curt started up the land wash on a little expedition of his own. For several days a suspicion had been growing on him about Sonya and Ralph, and he meant to settle the matter before going a paddling farther.

He glanced back once at camp. The two guides were lazily building a fire. Badly fagged out, Ralph had hung himself down on a bit of moss to rest. At the upturned canvas Paul was talking leisurely with gum pot and canvas while Sonya cut strips and handed him things.

As he walked along the landwash, Curt looked on upriver at the Lillian pass, in plain sight now. A grim reminder of danger just ahead, it brought him somber thoughts of ram-horn bows, his hunt for Karakhan, his heavy responsibility for Ralph and Sonya. He had counted positively on those two turning back at the pass, but now he doubted whether they would. They seemed determined to go on, especially Sonya.

Out of sight of camp he cut a pine branch and sat down on a rock. Six spots, robber flies, mud-daubers and yellow-jackets kept lighting all around him, but the beetle he wanted was rare. He waited twenty minutes before one finally came.

At the first motion of his pine branch the beetle went flitting away. Curt sprang up and took after it. Swift and agile, it led him a hot chase back and forth across the sand; but his brilliant color proved its undoing, for he kept it in sight and at last got in a lucky swipe that stunned it.

As he picked his captive up and rolled it over on his palm, a twig snapped behind him. He turned. Under the pine where he had cut the branch, Sonya stood looking on, her eyes dancing with laughter. Curt realized she had been watching him; he had been amused by it.

"I guess I did look ridiculous," he thought, "chasing arround with half a pine tree to knock down a little bug. But anyway, I'm going to find out something now."

He mopped his forehead and stepped over to her with the beetle. "Do you know this beetle, Sonya?"

CIVIC VIRTUE

... by FREDERIC MACMONNIES ...

"CIVIC VIRTUE," the figure on the City Hall fountain in New York City, was carved from one immense block of marble which weighed 55 tons! The largest statue designed by an American sculptor to that day, it portrayed civic virtue as a strong young man, carrying a sword and escaping from the sirens of treachery and guile, who are represented as attempting to hinder his progress. The unusual group—although planned before the war—was not completed until February, 1922. It raised a storm of controversy in which individuals and societies all over the city took sides, and was the subject of a public hearing, before it was finally erected on April 21, 1922.

Frederick MacMonnies, the distinguished sculptor of "Civic Virtue," is an indirect relation of the great American painter, Benjamin West. While still a youth he had to leave school and work in a jewelry store. At 16, St. Gaudens took him into his studio, and eleven years later, MacMonnies' fame was assured by his noble design for the Columbian Fountain at the Chicago World's Fair.

Fashion's Amendments Provide An Intoxicating Variety

Straight or blended colors are chosen for these festive hours when daytime and evening fashions so frequently rub shoulders at the close of the day. Note please, in the group sketched at a smart New York rendezvous recently, that necklines are either high or low and that hats belong with either extreme. Other contradictions, sweeter unmasked in the presence of the décolleté.

The costume illustrated was made by Lelong for the trousseau of a fashionable bride who was married recently in Paris.

At left, is a black suit in heavily ribbed cotton worn with a little scarf of white ermine. On the sleeves and pockets there are sections of the fabric with the ribs worked in opposite direction.

The one-piece frock cut on easy dolman lines is in violet blue and crepe with a scarf of matching velvet ribbon with ends slipped through the belt.

For formal wear the back dipping jacket is in black and silver-brocaded lined with pink satin. The sleeves are fur bordered. It is worn over a frock of malaga color sweetheart crepe with horizontal pleats arranged low at front and releasing the trained tailcoat at back.

OUR DAILY PATTERN

A Popular Style

7607. The suspender dress is a leading style of this season, and one that may be developed in a variety of materials. As pictured here it was made up in printed linen with or-gandy for the guimpe. The dress has princess lines, with fullness at the seams placed low. The dress is cut low over the guimpe, and in curved outline. The guimpe may be made with wrist length sleeves or with short sleeves. Pique, or plain linen, also rough silks, gingham or light weight woolen is suggested for this model.

Designed in 4 sizes: 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 12 will require 2 1/2 yards of 35 inch material for the dress, and 1 1/2 yard for the guimpe. If made with short sleeves, as in the large view, with long sleeves the blouse will require 1 1/2 yard. To finish with piping or bias binding as in the large view will require 4 1/2 yards 1 1/2 inch wide.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

DID YOU KNOW THAT

That dark green that August-ber-nard sent us for evening wear last August has died. It, along with the midnight blue that a number of couturiers launched is passing black. The green, like the blue, is extremely dark, yet not of black depth.

This year's count on white evening frocks shows them at the lowest they have been in a long time.

Formal knitted frocks seem to have a paradox, but it is the popularity of knitted fashions which has brought them into the Night Life class, as one of its informal phases to be sure.

Net and tulle are better liked, when it comes to sheers, than chiffon. The fact that these crisp transparent textures have more kinship with the stiffer of the evening silks explains this preference by one dress-maker.

The "Formal Dress Compulsory" sign that should be displayed at every evening rendezvous does not necessarily mean that every frock worn for the evening must be topped by a tiara. There is still a lot to be said for the modern-spirited semi-formal frock.

The innumerable accessories all the way from elicits to handkerchiefs, scarfs, handbags, sweaters, that are made of spangles are all in the same feeling for "dazzling effects" for the evening parade.

Spangle and beads are an index to the mood of this season's fashions—dazzling and dramatic with a basic appreciation for simple lines. Whether it is paillettes, bugles or tiny beads, the special formula of this season's allover surface covering without any design picked out—does the trick that makes them just right. Bodices or jackets or "collar" paillettes in black or brilliant red, blue or green, are nothing short of stunning; entire dresses especially with sleeves, of allover cut beads, are liked even by women who have never got over their prejudice against beaded clothes.

Rhinestone bandeaus are favored, long earrings of rhinestones or diamonds, the customary sets of bracelets in diamonds, possibly introducing a bit more color in cabochon "emerald" or "ruby" accents this year than last.

GOING Christmas shopping without knowing what you're going to buy is like trying to use a pay phone without a directory.

Going Christmas shopping without knowing what you're going to spend is like trying to use the phone without a nickel.

You may get through on the first—for the stores are full of pleasant surprises. But go hit or miss on spending—and either your Christmas list or your Christmas budget is bound to strike a snag.

The ad reading habit is invaluable at Christmas time. It lets you plan your list in advance. You know what you're going to give to whom. You know how much it's going to cost . . . down to the last little penny.

Reading the ads saves you many a weary footstep . . . Many a jostle and shove . . . many a disappointment. Reading the ads, you'll almost always find you can save a few dollars to buy a nicer gift for someone very special or to bank away for next Christmas.

And remember this! Advertised merchandise is always better merchandise. At Christmas time. And all the year 'round.

Ethel Barrymore "Insults" Clubwomen

Philadelphia, Dec. 2 (AP).—It was an extra added attraction, but Ethel Barrymore's denunciation of the Philadelphia club women as "know-nothings" stole the show from her erstwhile protegee, Eva La Gallienne, and evoked a storm of protest.

The two famous actresses created their sensation—as full of drama as any of their theatrical triumphs—at the Philadelphia Lecture Assembly where Miss La Gallienne appeared yesterday to "make amends" for her failure to keep an engagement last Monday.

Explaining her failure as the result of a "complete misunderstanding," her "apology" was such that it set the stage for Miss Barrymore, princess of the American theatre's "normal family."

"I don't know why we bother to speak to you," Miss Barrymore told the women, already smarting under the last of her companion's criticism. "Miss La Gallienne and I do you an honor to be here at all."

"You don't know anything. You don't understand anything. You never have known anything and you never will."

"I have given 25 years of my life to the theatre. I don't know why we do it. We get no thanks. I think Miss La Gallienne has done you a great honor. I don't know why. I don't know why anyone should honor you. You do not come to see my plays. You should be happy to come here two or three times in order to hear Miss La Gallienne once."

Kingston Hairdressers To Meet Monday Night

MONROE DOCTRINE TODAY HAS 110TH ANNIVERSARY

Today is the 110th anniversary of the first proclamation of the famous Monroe Doctrine. It was contained in the message sent to Congress December 2, 1823, by President Monroe.

Briefly the Monroe Doctrine covers:

Future colonization by any European powers of the American continents.

Any attempt by the allied powers to extend their political system to any portion of this hemisphere, or to any part of either continent.

Any intervention, by any European power, for the purpose of opposing or controlling in any other manner the destinies of the Latin American Governments "who have declared their independence and maintained it."

Non-interference by the United States with the existing colonies or dependencies of any European power.

Policy of leaving Spanish American colonies and Spain to themselves in the hope that other powers will pursue the same course.

WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR COMING WEEK.

Following is the weather outlook for the period beginning Monday:

North and Middle Atlantic States: Scattered rains or snows over northern portion at beginning of week, followed by general rains over south and snows or rains over north portion Wednesday or Thursday. Slightly colder over north portion Monday, decidedly colder Thursday and Friday; otherwise moderate temperature.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Dec. 2 (AP).—Stocks tumbled their way through another turbulent session today and in the two business hours the turnover approximated only 215,444 shares, the smallest Saturday's total since early in September. Price changes generally were limited to unimportant fractions. The close was steady.

There was no change in the domestic gold rate, and equities received no stimulus from either foreign exchanges or commodities. The dollar moved up against Sterling, which was off about 3 cents at noon. French francs were also around .93 of a cent lower. Wheat declined some 2 cents a bushel at one time and other grains dropped. Cotton, silver and rubber were down moderately. Bonds firmed, however, apparently in sympathy with the improved dollar.

Shares of Allied Chemical edged up a point and minor advances were recorded by Santa Fe, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Standard Brands, Bethlehem Steel, du Pont, National Distillers, Westinghouse, Commercial Solvents, Union Pacific, Chrysler and Western Union. Heaviest trading was in Commonwealth & Southern, which eased a trifle. Case, heavy at one time, recovered. U. S. Steel, American Telephone, General Motors, American Can, John-Macville, N. Central and many others hovered around their previous quotations.

Some students of the steel industry have been expressing encouragement over the long-range outlook and an upturn in mill activities in the near future is anticipated. The principal stimulants to expanded production, it is said, are buying for the railroads, automobile companies and the public works program. With the present material growth in purchases is expected to be reflected in substantially increased operations.

Quotations given by Parker, McElroy & Co., members, N. Y. Stock Exchange, 120 Broadway, New York city; branch office, 282 Wall street.

LETHAL GAS SUPPLIANTS GALLOWES IN COLORADO

Canon City, Colo., Dec. 2 (AP).—Colorado's antiquated hanging machine has jerked its last condemned prisoner from the black spot on the floor of the penitentiary death house. Lethal gas will supplant the noose by act of the legislature.

Walter Johnson to Pitts. Mich., calm to the point of detachment, was hanged there last night for killing Hartford Johnson, a box car robber.

French Cabinet Trouble.

Paris, Dec. 2 (AP).—Police muzzed like troops before the chamber of deputies today while hunger marches paraded in the freezing cold and drenched with work and bread; inside, in the stifling atmosphere of the chamber, Premier Camille Chautemps appealed to patriotism to balance the budget and save the franc.

The government head made his appeal in a ministerial declaration in which he asked that the French currency be preserved for "the public safety."

To Create Republic.

London, Dec. 2 (AP).—The Daily Mail said today that the President Eamon de Valera of the Irish Free State was understood to have clearly declared to the British government his intention to go forward with plans creating an Irish republic. The declaration was made, it was said, in a communication answering a recent statement before the House of Commons by Dominions Secretary J. H. Thomas.

Shoots Wife, Kills Self.

Utica, N. Y., Dec. 2 (AP).—Mrs. Joseph J. Thorne, 32, was in a hospital today in a serious condition and her 33-year-old husband was dead as the result of a quarrel late yesterday when Thorne went to the home of his estranged wife's niece to discuss the division of some furniture. Thorne shot his wife in the shoulder and then killed himself.

Ambulance Calls Friday.

On Friday the ambulance removed Mary Leahy from the Benedictine Hospital to 70 Hurley avenue; Mrs. Lena Cantine from the Kingston Hospital to 140 Flatbush avenue; and Mrs. Minnie Van Rix from the Kingston Hospital to 789 Broadway.

Card Party.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Congregation Ahavath Israel, Spring and Wurts streets, will hold a card party in the vestry hall of the synagogue Monday evening, December 4, at 8:30 o'clock. Refreshments will be served. All are welcome.

Abraham Israel Meeting.

There will be a meeting of the members of the Congregation Ahavath Israel Sunday, December 3, at 7 o'clock in the vestry hall, Spring and Wurts streets. Following this meeting there will be another of the Men's Club Assembly.

Ninth Class Meeting.

The Ninth Class of Clinton Avenue M. E. Church will hold a regular business meeting Monday evening at 7:45 o'clock in Epworth Hall.

K. H. S. Alumni Rally Friday Night

Former Students Meet in Auditorium—Mayor Coughlin Suggests Building of Stadium. One Expected Wish of Late Dr. Michael.

Kingston High School Alumni Association's rally held in the high school Friday night was attended by some 400 former students, representing nearly every class. The purpose of the get-together was to reveal the organization's program and to establish a unity that would endure.

This is the first rally the Alumni has had and its first active re-organization movement in years. The association, however, was brought to life after an inactive period of many years, by the class of 1928, from whose ranks came the able leader, Seaman Jacobs, who, until the present date, has been the only alumni remaining faithful to the organization's re-establishment. Seaman Jacobs is now president of the association.

The worthy causes of the graduates were revealed by President Jacobs and the speakers of the evening, whom he introduced, commented and enlarged upon the purposes of the alumni body and wholeheartedly approved of the movement to unite and of the program to be carried out.

Superintendent B. C. Van Ingen spoke of the society as being an asset to the community and a great benefit to the school.

Principal Clarence Dumm, praised the organization and hoped that it would be permanent.

Mayor Eugene B. Carey in his speech set a goal for the graduates by suggesting that a stadium be erected to the memory of the late Dr. Myron J. Michael, whose dream it was that a stadium would be built for the school's athletic events.

The other speakers of the program were: Assemblyman J. Edward Conroy, Alfred Schmid, president of the Kingston National organization; Nicholas J. Fowler, Edward Luby, Ann Herzog and Walter Donnarumma, who acted as master of ceremonies.

The program of entertainment was versatile. It held musical numbers, a comedy skit and drawings. The Huling Barn orchestra opened the program. Roger Keough followed with an acrobatic tap dance. Barnhart and Harold Clayton did a comedy skit, a sextet composed of Vivian Klotz, Caroline Port, Muriel Obenaus, Eva Clinton, Dolores Rist and Ruth Morris, did the three song hits from "Footlight Parade," then Zaven Melik gave three selections and William Raible, tenor, closed the musical program.

Zaven Melik also drew chalk sketches of the teachers and imitated many a signature of the faculty well known to the former students.

THE TAYPERS ASSOCIATION WILL BE HELD IN THE COURT ROOM MONDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 4. THE BUDGET WILL BE CONSIDERED BY THE ASSOCIATION FOR THE PURPOSE OF AIDING THE ASSOCIATION COMMITTEE ON BUDGETS IN THEIR WORK OF RECOMMENDING SUCH ECONOMIES AS CAN BE MADE WITHOUT IMPAIRING THE CITY GOVERNMENT IN ITS WORK. IT IS NOT THE INTENTION OF THE ORGANIZATION TO ASK FOR WHOLESALE CUTTING OF THE BUDGET; IT BELIEVES IN AIDING THE CITY IN ITS WORK IN THIS LINE.

The committee on membership which has been working for the past two months, will make its report. These men have been working very hard to get in touch with all the taxpayers of the city. They may have been unable to reach some but will welcome any to the organization.

The annual fall meeting of the Holland Society of New York was held at the Hotel Astor, New York city, on Tuesday evening, November 28. At this time the gold medal, which is the custom of the society, was awarded to an American who has achieved signal success in the field of art, literature or science during the past year, was conferred upon Waitman Adams, N. A. In recognition for his notable achievements in portraiture. The society was replete with a flourishing condition over thirty new members during the past year. It was decided to hold the annual banquet the coming 18th of January. The society will attempt an innovation at that time in allowing the members to bring their wives and acquaintances. The meeting on Tuesday was largely attended. Ulster county was ably represented by Donald DeVitt of Kingston and Theodore Brink of Lake Katrine. Former Ulster county men present were Henry H. Van Aken, formerly of Port Jervis, and Luther Osterhout, formerly of Kingston, now both of New York city.

Leonard Stine of Fair street motored to Philadelphia on Thursday, where he is spending his vacation with friends.

Miss Helene Fitzgerald of Henry street spent several days the early part of this week in New York city, staying at the Hotel Lincoln.

Homer and Cutler Brown of New York city spent Thanksgiving with their mother, Mrs. J. Grove Brown, at her home, 199 Smith avenue.

Pierson Phelps of Hyde Park motored to Philadelphia on Thursday where he attended the Cornell-Pennsylvania football game.

Miss Jose Glasheim of New York city is the guest of Miss Irene Joslovitz at her home on Pearl street.

Mrs. E. P. Snyder of Elmendorf street left Wednesday for Whittingham, Vt., where she is visiting her son, the Rev. Paul Snyder, and his wife for a week.

Boyd Miller of 19 Hewitt Place left Wednesday afternoon to motor to Kittanning, Penn., where he is spending his vacation at his home there.

Dr. and Mrs. Philip P. Foley of 213 Main street recently spent several days in New York, being registered at the Hotel Lincoln while there.

On Wednesday Harry Witne of Boston, motored to Kingston where he is spending the holiday week-end at the homes of his sisters, Dr. Bels G. Atkins, Mrs. Arthur S. Cole, and Mrs. Clarence Schoonmaker.

Mrs. Harold Rakov of Clinton avenue was in New York city Tuesday, November 21, when she attended the Tuesday Evening Musicale at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel at which time her sister-in-law, Miss Helen Rakov, mezzo-soprano gave a recital. Mrs. Rakov of Syracuse and New York was accompanied by Miss Alice Frison.

Today Mrs. James E. Low of Washington avenue and Mrs. Tunk H. Haulbeck of Main street are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Haulbeck at their home in Poughkeepsie.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Norwood left Thursday for Cobleskill where they spent Thanksgiving with Mrs. Norwood's sister and mother.

Taxpayers to Hold Meeting Monday

The regular monthly meeting of the Taxpayers Association will be held in the court room Monday evening, December 4. The budget will be considered by the association for the purpose of aiding the association committee on budgets in their work of recommending such economies as can be made without impairing the city government in its work. It is not the intention of the organization to ask for wholesale cutting of the budget; it believes in aiding the city in its work in this line.

The committee on membership which has been working for the past two months, will make its report. These men have been working very hard to get in touch with all the taxpayers of the city. They may have been unable to reach some but will welcome any to the organization.

Feline Royalty Seen At First Cat Show

Modern Valley Cat Club's initial exhibition, as Governor Clinton Hotel, Banks Several National Champions—Judging Still in Progress.

Lovers of cats and particularly those who admire "cats what is cats," missed it if they failed to attend the first annual cat show of the Hudson Valley Cat Club, held at the Governor Clinton Hotel today. There were about 190 entries, competing in 125 classes. All Persians with the exception of three entries of Royal Sacred Siamese cats.

The show was in charge of the officers of the club, Mrs. Fred Skinner, of Cobeccon, president, and Miss Elizabeth Browning of West Hurley, secretary, assisted by A. E. Horne of Ridgefield, Conn., secretary of the United Cat Clubs of America, with which the Hudson Valley Club is affiliated. Mr. Horne stated that the quality of the exhibits shown at the Governor Clinton today was phenomenally good, many of the entries having been best cats at shows held all over the United States. The club, which has about 30 members, was formed about a year ago and this was its first show. The judging, which was expected to take until late in the afternoon, was done by Mrs. Horne.

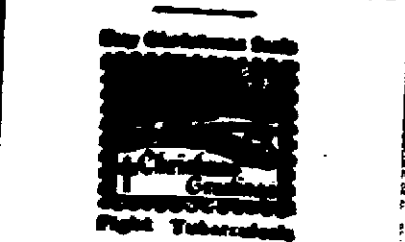

From among the many beautiful entries shown it would have been very hard, especially for a layman, to come anywhere near making a first choice, but among entries with outstanding records were noticed the following:

Grand champion Sonoma Fayette, owned by Mrs. Charles L. Mercer, Wichita, Kan. Sonoma is an orange-eyed white female and won the grand championship in 1932 and has been best cat in two shows so far this year. A price of $125 was placed on her.

An imported blue male Persian was Herondale Milford of Henley, owned by Mrs. Louise Heron of Fort Lee, N. J.

A red tabby male champion was Champion Copper Kettle Kruader of Rockridge, owned by Mrs. J. S. Hunter of Mt. Vernon. He had the distinction of winning his championship before he was ten months of age.

Christmas Seal Has Stuck to Its Job

The following appeal for the purchase of Christmas Seals is made by the Ulster County Committee on Tuberculosis and Public Health:

In the last few years when everybody lost faith in something, and some people lost faith in everything, the little Christmas Seal has stuck to its job of discovering cases of tuberculosis early enough to help them, of preventing the disease from going from the sick to the well, of building up resistance among children, and of growing up who are needed.

The goal of the Christmas Seal is the elimination of tuberculosis. Early discovery means early recovery. Christmas Seals furnish the steam to keep the movement going. Buy them as generously as possible.

DAIRYMEN Discuss Proposed Milk Code

Over 100 dairymen from all parts of Ulster county took part in a meeting at the court house here Wednesday evening at which Henry S. Manley, counsel of the State Milk Control Board, was the speaker. He gave a very interesting account of the developments which led to the formation of the present milk control board and the formation of the proposed code for the New York milk shed. He pointed out the features of the proposed code as they stood when the code was sent to Washington on October 19. This included an administrative board of 21 members, managing by deducting five cents per hundred pounds of milk, blending of all the proceeds and production limitation. A resolution was adopted asking the officials at Washington to release the code as quickly as possible for the consideration of all dairymen. Albert Kurdt, manager of the Farm Bureau, was instructed to send this resolution to Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture.

After the talk by Mr. Manley many questions relating to the milk industry were asked and discussed. C. L. Allen, chairman of the Farm Bureau dairy committee, presided and led the discussion. At the close of the meeting a rising vote of thanks was given Mr. Manley for coming to Kingston and giving such an interesting and instructive talk.

After the meeting the dairy committee had a short session at which plans were made for another county-wide meeting as soon as the code is released at Washington. It was also decided to hold a series of meetings during the winter on subjects of vital importance to all dairymen, with outstanding speakers. In January it was decided to have some speaker representing the distributors of milk and in February have a representative of the board of health. Those present at the committee meeting included: Chairman C. L. Allen, V. A. Barnhart, George S. L. Steinberg, Harry Beatty, Copeland E. Gates, B. E. Davis, Frank Elliott, LeRoy Davis and B. H. Decker.

Doings At Jewish Community Center

Men's group: At a meeting held on Monday night the annual election of officers took place. Abraham Tudoroff was elected president; Harry Shaffer, vice-president, and Alfred Ponder was re-elected as treasurer. The Center feels fortunate in having secured such splendid men as officers, men who are so well qualified to continue the guiding of the work of the Jewish Community Center.

At The Theatres

Kingston: "Only Yesterday". An emotional story, of women's love and man's forgetfulness, that was 11 months in the making. John Boles is excellent in his part going some of his best acting. Margaret Sullivan plays the female lead and the two stars are assisted by 35 feature players. Good entertainment.

Orpheum: "Murder in the Zoo". The first in a "thrill producer with the master of horror pictures. Lionel Atwill heading the cast. Charlie Huggins is good as Kathleen Burke. The second feature is another of Zane Grey's stories made into a very good picture. Randolph Scott heads the cast with Harry Carey, Noah Beery, Verna Hillie and Buster Crabbe helping make the picture good entertainment.

Broadway: On the screen "Arizona to Broadway" featuring James Dunn and Joan Bennett. An old plot not interestingly handled is saved by the acting of the two stars assisted in the laugh getting by Sammy Cohen. There are some fair musical numbers. On the stage four acts of vaudeville headed by Maxine, the Cuban wonder, Sherman and McVay, Walton and Craig, and the Little Show Revue.

Tomorrow
Orpheum: "Disgraced" and "High Gear". The first picture on this double feature program is an old idea rather well handled. Helen Twelvetrees, as the young mannikin who is wronged by the rich young scamp played by Bruce Cabot, does a rather neat bit of acting. Cabot is good as Ken Murray. "High Gear" is a racing picture, complete with thrills and suspense.

Broadway: "I Loved You Wednesday. Elissa Landi as the beautiful young dancer displays some of her best acting. Jilted by Victor Jory, a married man she is in love with, along comes Warner Baxter. He falls in love with her and it is around these circumstances that a very well directed and acted picture works. Good entertainment.

Home? It's Anywhere

She has a home in New York City, too, of which she is quite fond, but she refuses to consider it her permanent headquarters. Once, also, she established a home in Michigan, but gave it up when she found that her career left her little time to spend in it. So it's plain to see that Miss the land is not the "settling" type.

"I don't consider myself a movie actress," she avers. "I belong on the stage. On the other hand, I don't want the stage to think that it owns me because I also belong to the movies. My home is wherever I happen to be at the time, and now that I am in New York, I am in New York. New York can't claim me and vice versa."

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS and SOUNDS

Dubuque's Sunlight
"As Hollywood's latest Jesse Lasky production, Dubuque's Sunlight, Iowa, business man Warner Baxter, whose wife has acquired a romantic love from a young English poet in Paris, and who fails to stand the test of Dubuque. The cast includes Helen Vinson as the wife, Warner Oland, and three newcomers—G. H. Hunter, Jr. as the poet, Catherine Dwyer as the wife's girl friend, Eleanor Lynn as Catherine's daughter.

The screen's rather sudden interest in biography may account for a healthy feeling away from too much emphasis on musical films. The musical continues, but solid biographical romance should help to vary the menu.

It is scarcely probable that any such place as a musical life of Napoleon or a lyrical interpretation of Catherine the Great will be attempted.

OLIVE BRIDGE

Olive Bridge, Dec. 1.—The Ladies' Aid Society will hold its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. C. Christianson on Wednesday afternoon, December 6, at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. Alonzo Davis, accompanied by Mrs. Reginald Davis attended the Home Bureau meeting held at the home of Mrs. Chester Lyons at Ashokan on Monday afternoon.

Ward Boomer is reported as improving. Mr. Boomer had a narrow escape from death when a tree his son was falling hit him on his head, injuring it severely.

The residence formerly occupied by Henry L. W. Inghel, now of Kingston, and now owned by Jules Bruchaud, has been razed.

Preparations are being made for the Christmas exercises to be held in the M. E. Church. The Sunday school is planning to have a fine program. The date is Wednesday evening, December 20. Further details will be announced later.

The Crusader Society will meet at the home of Miss Ida Mae Davis on Friday evening, December 1.

Tea and Quilt Exhibit

A centennial tea and quilt exhibit will be held Wednesday afternoon, December 6, at Trinity M. E. Church. Mrs. M. Burger and Miss Mary Hale have charge of the exhibit. Mrs. W. Gregory, Mrs. Denning and Mrs. Willmott, assisted by others, will preside at the tea tables. All kinds of home baked food will be on sale in charge of Mrs. Elgin, Mrs. Raible and Mrs. Eldridge. The public is invited to attend and no admittance fee will be charged.

Queer Sounds

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER
Now, of course, it was up to Willy Nilly to get the money back from Grandpa Grouchy Galsamp.

They argued and argued, and at last Willy Nilly proved that the woods were on his ground, so that Grandpa gave back the money.

"Before I do anything else," Willy Nilly said when he returned home with the money which he had won at once, "I must fill the pantry and the cellar store room with plenty of food for the winter."

So Willy Nilly worked and worked and Rip, the Dog, helped, carrying ever so many apples and vegetables in his mouth down to the cellar.

After they had finished Willy Nilly said:

"Now, Rip, I'm going to lock all those doors and hide the keys. I'll put a bolt on the cellar door; for otherwise it would be so easy for one of our hungry animals to go right down into the cellar, when no one happened to be around, and have a quiet meal."

"Bow-wow," agreed Rip, "that's a good idea."

So they locked the pantry doors, hid the keys, and bolted the cellar store room.

"There will come a time in the winter when we'll be grateful for all this food," smiled Willy Nilly, who felt that he had really finished a great deal of work.

From time to time during the night Willy Nilly heard queer sounds coming from the cellar, but then decided he was only imagining them.

When he awoke in the morning he was sure he heard low growls and then cries. What could they mean?

HIGH FALLS

High Falls, Dec. 2.—Oscar E. Abrams of Springfield, Mass., was in the village a short time last Saturday on his way to the cemetery. He was accompanied by his aunt, Mrs. J. DePuy Hasbrouck, of Kingston. Miss Jessie Snyder has returned to High Falls after spending some time in Belchertown, Springfield and Boston, Mass. It was a great pleasure for her to visit Wellesley where she went to college and Northfield where she taught. She met many of her old friends.

T. D. Abrams and Gus Parsons of Springfield called on friends here on Tuesday.

Miss Harriet Church of Freeport, Long Island, is home over the Thanksgiving holiday.

Hufus Markle has been doing some carpenter work for John H. Ayers.

The Misses Alice Krom of Brooklyn and Kathryn Krom of Valley Stream are enjoying the holiday vacation with their mother, Mrs. Luke D. Krom and sister, Miss Miriam Krom.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davis of Kingston visited her father on Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. James Joseph of Tannersville, Dan Joseph of New York city and nephew, Albert Clark, spent Thanksgiving with Mrs. Catherine Joseph.

Miss Florence Vroom, who has been spending some time with Miss Mary C. Van Wagenen, returned to her home in Ridgewood, where she will spend the holiday with her brother, Alfred Vroom, and family.

The Mothers' Club of the High Falls School will hold its next meeting on December 8, at the school house at 3 p. m. Anyone wishing to join the club is cordially invited to attend this meeting.

THE FLYING LINDBERGH'S SOAR ON :: AN AERIAL ODYSSEY

In their plane "Finguisartok"—the name meaning "Big Bird"—given it by the Eskimos—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh have been flying over land and sea for five months. Since their ship soared from United States waters, their route has led over ice, sea, mountains and through equatorial heat. After landing at Le Bourget field in Paris, where Lindbergh's transatlantic flight ended in 1927, they were acclaimed as they

By STEPHEN McDONOUGH

New York (AP)—Five months of almost continuous flying... several hundred hours in the air on a tour of more than 25 foreign countries and island possessions, and still the flying Lindberghs wing onward.

Traveling over new routes as well as established airlines, Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh have added tremendously to their already wide experience in flying.

On previous flights they have admittedly been vacationing, as on the trip over the northwest passage to China in 1931. The present tour, however, has been work—difficult, severe, sometimes hazardous. They have ranged from close on the Arctic circle over wide expanses of ice and snow to the blistering heat of the equator.

The work in which Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh have thus far taken a part is a portion of a huge joint survey in which the Pan American company has cooperated—with Air France, Lufthansa of Germany, Imperial Airways of Great Britain, and KLM of Holland.

While the Americans surveyed the northern route the foreign companies investigated the great circle route from Newfoundland to Ireland, the southeast passage from Newfoundland land to the Azores and Lisbon, Portugal, and the south Atlantic line from Miami, Fla., to Bermuda, the Azores, and Lisbon.

Anyone who still thinks the Lindberghs have been on an aerial vacation should read the log of their flight—reading it alone is hard work.

For instance, after having spent one month on the journey northward from New York they jumped across Greenland from Holstenborg to Scoresby Sound on August 5. Two days later they flew south to Angmagalik, Greenland, and spent the next 10 days in exploring that region from the air.

On August 17 they hopped from Angmagalik to Reykjavik, Iceland; five days later from Reykjavik to Eski Fjord and the following day to Treras, Faroe Islands. Without giving the motor of their plane hardly more than time to cool they took off again the next day for the Shetland Islands, remained there until August 26, and flew on to Copenhagen.

One of the most significant visits was that to Geneva, Switzerland, and subsequently came the announcement by the League of Nations aviation section that Colonel Lindbergh might be asked to serve on its committee to coordinate international aviation.

Since leaving Denmark the Lindberghs have not been working under direct orders from the Pan American company. However, all the information which Colonel Lindbergh includes in his report will be considered in reaching a decision on the practicability of scheduled trans-Atlantic flights.

Their flights have included long stretches of flying back and forth across a possible air trail in order to test air currents, plane performance at various altitudes, radio reception, and review the general topography of the region.

Stanley Shaw of Kingston, who on Tuesday, November 28, was married to Miss Letitia M. Kennedy at Wappingers Falls, has a number of friends here who rejoice in his martial venture. Mr. Shaw was born and brought up in Shokan and attended the Brookside school here. Though not enlisting from this town, he is considered one of Olive's veterans of the World War in which he saw active service. The Shaw homestead here was across the upper Boiceville road from the old stone house more recently occupied by the late J. Waldo Smith as a country home.

James Rutherford and John Secor of the Tonche neighborhood are improving the side road leading in to their farms in the northeastern part of the town.

The condition of Mrs. Rose Seeli, mother of Mrs. Edward Leyder of Shokan, is reported as considerably improved. Mrs. Seeli has been seriously ill at her home in Brooklyn.

Saturday, December 2, 1932, the death took place of Lemuel Boice, for many years a leading lumberman of Shokan and adjacent villages. Funeral services were held on the fifth.

Mr. Boice, who was the father of the late Zedoc P. Boice, spent his declining years on the old John Hill farm, the house being three doors above the Reformed Church on the hill road. In earlier years he owned the brick hotel block near the Shokan depot and about 1900 acres of land in Shandaken and Olive, ran a sawmill and conducted a general store.

Dr. Joseph J. Cosgrove, Shokan's new physician, already is enjoying a few friends at bridge last Tuesday

residence in Ashokan of Mrs. Chester Lyons last Monday afternoon. The guests were Miss Carrie Brooks of Ashokan and Mrs. Reginald Davis of Olive Bridge.

Miss Evelyn Nance, county agent, who conducted the lesson on crafts, brought with her a large assortment of room furnishings and made setups for four different rooms. The time and place of the next meeting will be announced later.

Mrs. Alonso Davis of Olive Bridge is a new member of the Shokan Home Bureau.

A death of a former reservoir country resident on December 1, 1913, was that of Patrick H. Lane, 93, at Hudson. Funeral services were held in the Gleason M. E. Church on Thursday, December 4, and the interment was at Woodstock.

Mr. Lane for many years resided at J. W. Moore's. Previous to his 90th year he had long served as a constable of the town of Hurley. He was survived by one daughter, Mrs. Hewitt Osborn of Campbell Hill.

Lewis Thiel, local poultryman and trustee of school district No. 4, is one of the few who is getting enough eggs to pay for the keep of their flock of hens these days. Mr. Thiel does not force his hens and pullets in the fall and early winter, however, but rather lets them take their time about starting in to cackle. He finds that this practice makes for the production of more fertile eggs in the spring, at which time he does a rushing business in hatching eggs and baby chicks.

Mrs. Elmer Bedell is reported as being ill at her home near the Reformed Church.
